Upcoming Health Fairs

The Health Wagon is excited to collaborate once again with East Tennessee State University to provide a free health fair to the community in May. The health fair is set to be held in Wise, VA on Wednesday, May 15 at Zion Family Ministries Church. The health fair will take place again on Thursday, May 16 at ValleyView Freewill Baptist Church in Clintwood, VA. The event will take place from 9:00 AM-4:00 PM. Various vendors will be present for the patients to speak with and become educated about different services offered throughout the county. These services range from MEOC transportation to home health agencies, should patients need this service.

At the health fair patients will have the chance to see a provider, have labs drawn, have a pap smear done, schedule a mammogram, and various other medical tests performed. ETSU medical residents will be providing the care for patients, under a doctor's supervision.

Thanks to a generous credit from LabCorp, the Health Wagon will be able to provide all necessary labs to the patients at no cost to The Health Wagon.

Remote Area Medical 2013

The Health Wagon is currently working very hard to begin making RAM 2013 a huge success.

The registration form is available on the Health Wagon website at <http://www.thehealthwagon.org/ram.htm>. Here, licensed and non-licensed professionals will be able to register for the event, which is scheduled for July 19-21. If you or someone you know plans to register for RAM, please make sure to complete the form by May 1. On this website you will find all the information needed for registration, including housing options. If you have any questions regarding registration or anything about RAM, please call (276) 328-8850.

Thanks for your support

Thank you to each person and/or organization for your donations to the Health Wagon. Your generosity is greatly appreciated and allows the Health Wagon to continue providing the same great care to the residents of Southwest Virginia.
